Customer Reviews

'Touchy-feely books are a great way to encourage lots of interaction between parent and child, and this range from Usborne Publishing does it best' - The Sun; 'Helps very young children develop language and sensory skills' - Sheffield City Council; 'If you don't want the babies and toddlers to miss out on the monstrous fun, we recommend Fiona Watt's delightful "That's not my monster..." Little ones will delight in stroking a fluffy monster ear or touching some bumpy paws. Bright, bold and suitably robust (after all, it's not just the monsters who have teeth...)' - Little Parachutes Magazine; 'A valuable and enjoyable learning tool' - Junior Parenting Magazine; 'The brilliantly simple concept is a winner with very young children, trusted by parents and still one of the best baby series on the market' - The Bookseller

Have a child very interested in textures and we love the "That's not my...." series. That being said That's not my Monster is his hand's down favorite. The colors are bright and playful, the monsters are imaginative and the textures are unique and different (more than just smooth and bumpy). He loves the page with the horns where they use velcro. He's always grabbing at that page and scratching his nails in the monster's horns. I can see us reading this book for a while!!

My 10 month old absolutely loves these books. We have several "That's not my..." books and this one is one of our favorites. The construction is sturdy and holds up to my son's not so gentle turning of the pages just fine. The bright colors and textures are very interesting to him. The little mouse on each page is a fun "extra" to keep him engaged now that he is getting older and more curious. We've been using these books since my son was about 4 months old and I think he will remain interested in them for a long time. I highly recommend these books.

It is a really good book, just not the same version of touch and feel that is pictured. I was a little dissapointed and so was my toddler, because the picture led me to believe that it was the same version that he fell in love with at his cousins house. It is still a great book, but he is not as interested in it as he was with the other version of touch and feel textures.

In the week we've had this book we have probably read it 100 times. My son (8 months) loves the different textures. And I love that none of the pages are just shiny. They all have some sort of textured fabric to it and none of the pages repeat the same material. All of the pages also have more then one sport to touch. For example one page has about 5 "spikes" that are to fuzzy and each of the spikes has a material on it around the size of a penny. Another page is two ears about the size of my babies hand. Overall great option for a touch as feel book :)

Underwhelming. The "feely" parts of the book weren't very pronounced.

I love these books for my 11 month old. The pictures and textures are great. Even my 4 1/2 year old runs over when I'm reading these. We have 3 of the books in this series and love them all. Would recommend!

Our 1 yr old son absolutely LOVES the "Thats Not My" books from Usborne! Little ones are very tactile at this age, and want to touch everything, so its great to have a book with so many touch elements! We've been reading our little guy these books since he was only 2 months old, and he loves feeling the different textures on each page. The books are also short enough that he doesn't get bored and crawl off before we finish reading.

came in great shape and very clean and grandson loves it he,s 2
