Severe storms are headed toward Lilypad! Could a tornado touch down? Freddy and the Frog News Network leap into action and warn all their fellow frogs to "be prepared!" But will Freddy and his storm-chasing friend Tad Polar stay safe? In her fourth book, well-known meteorologist Janice Dean tackles some scary weather. Freddy the Frogcaster is faced with one of the most ferocious and devastating kinds of weather: the tornado. Young readers will learn all about how big storms occur and produce some of nature's most destructive weather. Chock-full of storm science lessons in the back, children and adults alike will learn valuable life-saving information. As Freddy reminds us, please be prepared and know what to do and where to go when the next bad storm comes your way!

A great way to introduce your children or grandchildren to how the weather works (ages 4-8).....cute illustrations too. I think knowledge is power and since some children are afraid of thunder and storms this will give them information to help them understand all about the weather. And the parents can learn something too. I have bought all four of Janice Dean's weather books for my grandchildren.....which covers Tornados, Hurricanes, Blizzards and Forecasting the weather.

I bought 3 of these Freddy the Frogcaster books for my granddaughter. This is her favorite. She's becoming interested in weather forecasting. This is a great learning tool for children. Freddy the Frog is a fun character and his story about joining a tornado tracker to find the tornado is interesting. After his story is told, the author writes a section of facts about tornadoes and gives practical advice on what to do if you find yourself in the path of one. I highly recommend this book.

I just received my copy of Janice Dean's latest Freddy the Frogcaster book, and it's wonderful. I've lived in "tornado alley" for several years, and I wish this book was available for my kids back then. I think all schools should carry this series of weather books. The story is exciting, the illustrations are fantastic by Russ Cox, and I love the new stormchasing character Tad Polar! Come to think of it, this needs to be an animated series for children! Bravo Freddy and Janice!

I ordered this book for my great grandson, I like the pictures, as they were very bright, and beautiful, that I hope will attract him, I would like him to get interested in "something" hoping this will be "it". I have not read the book, but hope he does. As it was a gift.

What a fun book! So much attention to detail in both the story and illustrations. The story prompted lots of questions and curiosity from my kids - and then all their questions were answered with the extra info at the end of the book. Another great Freddy book from Janice Dean the Weather Machine!

Anything Janice does is AWESOME

Another well written Froggie the Frogcaster Book. I bought a 4 book set for my Grand Daughter's, their School Libraries and the Town Libraries. I think they are that good. Teaches kids weather with cute stories and weather terms at their level.

Great book
