The Flying Carpet To Baghdad: One Woman's Fight For Two Orphans Of War

Synopsis

Zahra, aged 3, and Hawra, just a few months old were the only survivors of a missile strike in Baghdad in 2003. Their parents and their five siblings all died. Unable to have children herself, Hala Jaber, an award-winning foreign correspondent, was determined to do all she could to help them. Sent to Iraq by the Sunday Times to cover the war, the last thing she expected was to find herself trying to save two little girls who had lost everything. But what happened next tells us far more about that conflict than any news bulletin ever could. Being a Lebanese Muslim, as well as the employee of a London paper, Hala is in the privileged position of being able to straddle two very different worlds and explain one to the other, and her beautifully written and deeply moving account affords a genuinely fresh insight into the Iraq war and its terrible human cost.

Customer Reviews

Wonderful book of real life as an insider in Iraq during war and otherwise. A tear jerker, for sure. My 88 yr old Mom reading it now, then will pass to daughter and sister and daughter in law. As a Mom and Grandmother this hit my heart. As Mom of soldiers having been there, offers a new perspective to the war. Recommend highly.
